FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHARLESTON, IL--Eastern Illinois University's vastly improved golf team will make its bid for conference recognition Monday and Tuesday (May 2-3) in the Mid-Continent championship at Springfield, MO.

Six of the eight AMCU teams are scheduled to compete with Illinois-Chicago and Cleveland State not participating.

Mark Ferris (Charleston) and Kevin Strothmann (Mt. Vernon-Rend Lake CC) will definitely be on the five-man tournament squad, according to Coach Kevin Anglin, with the remaining three spots to be determined in a mid-week playoff.

Ferris and Strothmann have finished either first or second in three of the four spring matches.

Three other golfers who most often have been in the top five are Brent Herrin (Harrisburg), Dave Ransom (Carol Stream-Glenbard North) and Mike Wendlandt (Woodstock).

"Western Illinois is the defending champ but I think Southwest Missouri and Northern Iowa are the top two this year," said Anglin. "I think if we play well we have a chance to finish in the top three."
